FAMILY FOOD Crisp, Toothsome and Requires no Cooking.

The only feature yesterday was a "call down" administered by Justice Crutchneld to Yoder when the latter said sharply that he wanted to hear everything that went on. To Connect Chesterfield and Henrico at a Point Near Site of the Country Club.

The Board of Supervisors of Henrice county yesterday morning met and laid plans for the construction of a oringe to spar hig oanes rive at a point near the site of the Country Club of Virginia. No definite action was taken in regard to the matter, but it was shown that the cost of the structure would be in the neighborhood of $25,000, and that it would cost about $250 a year to maintain the thoroughfare.

A number of residents of the county were present to advocate the building of the bridge and representatives from the Country Club and the new Richmond College were present to show what the advantages would be.

The supervisors have announced that the county can afford to build the bridge, and there is every prospect of the project being put through within the mext year. The matter will be taken up in the next meeting of the board. Adon A. Yoder appeared in Police Court yesterday morning to answer to the charge of distributing obscene literature which manifestly tends to corrupt the youth. This is the fourth time Yoder has appeared in a court as defendant on account of actions resulting from his little weekly publication. The case was continued to this morning because of the fact that Commonwealth's Attorney Folkes had important cases in the Hustings Court. Justice Crutchfield acquainted the accused with this fact, and the latter, who is appearing as his own lawyer, consented to the postponement.

Yoder did not explain why he would defend himself. He merely stated that he would exercise his privilege of not going on the witness stand, but would examine other witnesses. Yoder acting as a lawyer will be something of a spectacle for the idle curious. He has been on the witness stand before, and every time was subjected to a severe cross-examination and mercliess arraignment.

ceedingly well. Of course, there rough spots, but why enumerate them?

Even the orchestra was composed of men and women who live here, and doubtless, work for their living. Of course, they made some silps, but the fact remains that they undertook a serious oratorio and sang it with dignity and understanding, with the utmost freedom from affectation, and with a seriousness of purpose that should make us all proud that we have such a class of colored people in our community.

They were all amateurs, and it is, therefore, hard to mention the individual voices, but it would not be just not to mention the singing of Dr. Q. W. Moone, a heavy, resonant bass, who sang with all the dignity and much of the impressiveness of a schooled oratorio basso, and that of Ida Dean, a soprano, who runs up anywhere, and not only sang all her solos with great prodignilty of voice, but sang every note of every chorus, practically leading all through the evoning.

To those who founded and to those who foster this admirable organization, too much praise cannot be given.

Tq-night the club will sing Gaul's "Holy City," and there is every reason to think that it will be more interesting even than last night's "Jehovah," because it is somewhat simpler.
